A letter to Mirvac:

It was September, 2010, and the inaugural Booroodabin Corporate Masters Tournament was rudely interrupted by the first of many torrential downpours. Mr Matthew Wallace, CEO Mirvac Construction had accepted the challenge of the Masters Tournament and with his team was enjoying the barefoot bowls experience, the fresh and healthy food, and the unyielding hospitality that is The Boo.

When luncheon on the day had to be moved due to the rain, Mr Wallace took action and offered to extend the roof over the outside dining area. Our sincerest thanks to Mr Wallace and his team for the roof extension - built as a community service to The Boo in November of 2010 just in time for the unbelievable rain we have experienced since.

The Heritage Red colorbond roof not only perfectly matches The Boo's main roof, but has created a calm and inviting space for The Boo's valued members and guests – a place to spend a relaxing afternoon or evening at the historic venue.

The Booroodabin Community & Recreation Club (The Boo) would have taken another two years to save enough to extend the roof of the dining area. Thanks to Mr Wallace and the Mirvac team, The Boo will now be free to concentrate on other upgrades necessary to the club, like new toilets.

We look forward to the relationship between Mirvac and The Booroodabin Community & Recreation Club continuing to grow.

Yours sincerely,

The BOO Crew.
